

A man with dark skin, glasses, and a patterned scarf is looking at a white garment. He is holding a small object, possibly a pin or a piece of fabric, near the garment. The background is blurred, suggesting an indoor setting like a workshop or a store.

Lunch & Learn

How to Start a Fashion Brand

1pm - 2pm
RSVP
www...

A fashion line that may dominate today's stores may have started as a small business created in a neophyte fashion designer's basement. While launching your own fashion line is challenging, it is possible to turn your idea into a success.